B. PHASE2, mesh generation is a simple two-step process. First you have to DISCRETE the bounds and then you can generate the MESH. You can also customize various . MESH files according to your preferences. For example, you can set depth, speed, and depth. If you set the depth, then the mesh will be smaller. If you set the speed, you can make everything go faster or slower. You can also adjust the number of blocks to be used in the grid. As you increase the number of blocks in the grid, you will see more and more "blocks" in the grid.
