Field of the Invention The present invention generally relates to a method and apparatus for depositing and etching semiconductor layers, particularly those comprising amorphous silicon. 2. Description of the Related Art In the semiconductor industry there is a continuing trend toward higher device densities. To achieve these high densities there has been and continues to be efforts toward scaling down device dimensions (e.g., at submicron levels) on semiconductor wafers. In order to accomplish such high device packing density, smaller and smaller feature sizes are required of semiconductor devices, such as transistors. This may include width and spacing of interconnecting lines, spacing and diameter of contact holes, etc. This is simply referred to as scaling down. One way to scale down features is
